Asset management strategy

The fund gained 0.84% in February, compared with a 1.08% rise in its benchmark over the same period. The investment ratio ended the month at nearly 100%, with a gross yield to worst of 4.99% and a modified duration of 3.5.

OFI ESG High Yield underperformed its benchmark mainly as a result of its not being invested in special situations such as Auchan, Atos, Pemex, Klockner and Foncia. These underweights cost the fund 20 bps of relative performance. Conversely, the fund's duration overweight and exposure to the Crossover added 5.5 bps and 2.6 bps of relative performance respectively. Overweights in consumer goods, services, healthcare and real estate more than made up for underweights in cyclical sectors such as basic industries and retail.

On the macroeconomic front, February was a busy month in terms of events and statistics. The US president confirmed that he would be imposing new 25% import tariffs on Mexican and Canadian goods and hiking tariffs on Chinese goods by 10%. He also announced his intention to attack reciprocal tariffs (i.e. VAT). On the geopolitical front, the rapprochement between the US and Russia means Europe is going to have to rearm, prompting Ursula von der Leyen to propose that military spending be excluded from the calculation of Member States' public deficits. Meanwhile, US inflation exceeded expectations, with non-housing services inflation sharply up, while eurozone February PMI data came in lower than expected. The CDU/CSU victory in Germany's snap elections fuelled optimism, with hopes of increased fiscal support. Taking all these factors into account, sovereign yields were extremely volatile in February, though German 10-year yields ended the month close to their January levels at 2.4%.

Against this backdrop, the European high-yield market put in a remarkable performance, gaining 1.07%, driven by the lowest-rated debt (CCC). This performance translated into a 23 bps tightening of spreads, which have now tightened 33 bps in the year to date to stand at 317 bps. By rating, BB-rated debt gained 0.89%, B-rated debt 1.10%, hybrid debt 0.97% and CCC-rated debt 2.61% as financially very fragile companies such as Auchan, Atos, Foncia and Klöckner Pentaplast rallied. The Crossover significantly underperformed cash, gaining 0.24%, with the Crossover spread remaining unchanged in the month. By sector, technology outperformed the market (up 2.21%), as did real estate (up 1.85%) and energy (up 1.64%). Automotive once again underperformed (up 0.64%), as did telecommunications (up 0.49%).

The primary market lost momentum in February, with four major refinancing operations – Kantar, Flora Foods, Rekeep and Bubles – totalling €2.6 billion, two thirds less than the February average over the past five years. On the demand side, European inflows were strong, at $3.1 billion. Year-to-date net flows are positive in Europe ($3.1 billion) after a promising start to the year. In the US, the asset class proved broadly popular with investors, attracting net inflows of $4.8 billion. Year-to-date net inflows into the US high-yield market total $7.2 billion.
